

THE BEAST

HITS NAMIBIAN SOIL

The coronavirus pandemic has given the world a chance for new beginnings and Auas Motors has not been left behind as it debuts the first Isuzu D-Max Arctic AT35 in Namibia. The limited-edition 3 Litre Isuzu D-Max Arctic is a result of a collaboration between Isuzu Motors South Africa and Icelandic trucks' specialist, Arctic Trucks International. Specifically engineered for Southern Africa's unforgiving conditions, the Arctic stands out with a striking, yet functional exterior built with features like out-sized wheel wells, flared arches and bespoke Fox Performance suspension that will definitely excite any off-road enthusiast. The out-sized structure allows for navigation of places where your normal 4x4 bakkie would not handle and all this Thanks to the 6-Speed Automatic Transmission and 130Kw of power packed under the hood to compliment the giant's unique body structure.

The lavish interior is one for the books with top range features like leather trimmed seats, Automatic Climate controlled Air-conditioner and an 8-inch audio system with all the latest technology like Rear-view Camera built-in.

For added peace of mind, the bakkie comes as a package with an outstanding 5 years/120 000km warranty as well as a 5year/90 000km Service plan that will go with you for the long run.

The Isuzu Arctic is also built on the same production line as the popular and trusted regular Isuzu D-Max bakkies, making it a special addition to a family of only the best bakkies.
